

UNAUTHORIZED ROLLING STONES

The Unauthorized Rolling Stones are a Rolling Stones tribute band which has become an institution of the San Francisco Bay Area local music scene. Singer Rudy Colombini who also played in The Divine Comedy serves as the lead singer as Mick Jagger. The Unauthorized Rolling Stones played the Rolling Stones's 40th Birthday VIP Party, and have opened for The Beach Boys, Molly Hatchet, Pete Best, Taylor Dayne, Gary Wright, Al Stewart, Chaka Khan, and Journey. They have played venues including the Bill Graham Civic Auditorium, Great American Music Hall, PacBell Park, Hard Rock Cafe, Harrah's and have been featured live on KFOX, KFOG, and KRON 4 TV. They have become something of a legend in the San Francisco Bay Area. Former San Francisco Mayor Willie Brown was quoted as saying "I love the Unauthorized Rolling Stones," and current Mayor Gavin Newsom is said to be a big fan. They won the San Francisco Bay Guardian's pick as Best Local Cover Band. Singer and producer Rudy Colombini is the owner of Music City SF a musical space and recording studio in San Francisco and the creator of the San Francisco Rock and Roll Hall of Fame.
